2009 NAITA Defense Trade Briefing Foreign Military Sales – Getting into the FMS Game

Thursday • May 14, 2009 • 1:30 p.m. – Following the World Trade Day Luncheon at the Embassy Suites Hotel • 800 Monroe Street, Huntsville, AL 35801

The 2009 NAITA Defense Trade Series, co-sponsored by the Alabama International Trade Center, presents a Foreign Military Sales Briefing following the annual World Trade Day luncheon. The briefing will highlight the U.S. Army Aviation and Missile Command (AMCOM)'s involvement in Security Assistance through Foreign Military Sales. This briefing to the business community will provide AMCOM's Security Assistance role/function through Foreign Military Sales as it supports U.S. National Security and our allies.

Briefing Speakers include:

- Major General (Ret.) Bruce K. Scott, President, ITT Defense International & former Commanding General of the United States Security Assistance Command (USASAC)
- Richard Alpaugh, Deputy to the Commanding General, USASAC
- Dr. Thomas Pieplow, Director, Security Assistance Management Directorate, AMCOM – Panel Moderator
- Randy J. Richardson, Command Ombudsman, AMCOM

World Trade Day recognizes the significance of international trade in the growth and economic well being of our region. NAITA and the Madison County Commission will co-sponsor the luncheon, which focuses on the importance of international trade to the world economy – and what it means in our local communities. Exports and foreign investment equal jobs, economic prosperity, and business opportunities for North Alabama.

Major General (Ret.) Bruce Scott, President, ITT Defense International, will discuss the Opportunities & Challenges of Foreign Military Sales at the 26th Annual NAITA World Trade Day Luncheon prior to the briefing. General Scott is also VP and Director of International Marketing at ITT Defense. Mr. Scott came to ITT from the U.S. Army after his retirement on October 1, 2002, at the rank of Major General. In 1999, he became Commanding General of USASAC with responsibility for all Army foreign military sales, supporting 141 countries and international organizations - more than 4300 FMS cases annually.

Sponsorship and reserved tables are still available. For details, visit www.naita.org or contact NAITA at 256.532.3505 or naita@naita.org.
